We have no regular Congressional proceeda sace our last paper went to press. In that, a signific was brought down to the 10th Dec. a se 23d both houses adjourned over to the 27th, are when time enough has not elapsed for reara to reach us.

The following from a correspondent of the Bos Courier, is all the news we have from Wash-

Washington, 23d Dec., 1842. The House adjourned yesterday to meet to-day ps o'clock, but no quorem was formed until entr minutes before eleven. When they did seether, however, they went to work with a The private calender was taken up, and simulred and thirteen bills that had been ord to be engrossed at the last session, were read had time and passed; some dozen more were on considered, o dered to be engrossed and pass-The House then went into Committee of the Thele on the private calender, and some thirty er bills were considered and laid aside, to be omed to the House. The committee rose, resed the bills to the House, and they were for meet part read a third time and passed-maes in all over one hundred and fifty private the passed at one sitting-a day's work not surand since Congress was established. They deere much credit for this day's proceedings, and rust will receive it from all their constituents. thing else of much moment was done in the me except passing a bill to extend the rights caizenship to the tribe of West-Stockbribge Ina who are now located in the territory of Two attempts were made to adjourn eroll Tuesday next, (Sunday being Christmas) laner of which succeeded, by the casting vote the Speaker. There being a tie vote of 80 to 0 on the vote of the Speaker being given there as some huzzaing, considerable clapping of

Some other bills were reoned and referred, and some resolutions, of no est importance, offered and adopted, when the nate took up Mr Benton's resolution, which was Remired. That the President be requested to orn the Senate whether the Quintople Treaty the suppression of the slave trade has been manicated to the Government of the United ses man; form whatever, and if so, by whom, s what purpose, and what answer may have en returned to such communication. Also, to amunicate to the Senate the information which my have been received by the Government of he United States, going to show that the "course thick the Government might take in relation to and treaty, has excited no small degree of attenwa and discussion in Europe." Also to inform he Senate how for the "warm animadversions" ad the great political excitement" which this resty has caused in Europe, have any application reference to these United States. Also, to inon the Senate what danger there was of having the laws and the obligations" of the United States a relation to the suppression of the slave trade, executed by others," if we did not "remove their pretext and motive for violating our flag end executing our laws," by entering into the palations for the Atlantic squadron, and the retrating embassies which are contained in the and 9th articles of the late British treaty.

The resolution having been read, Mr Benton dified it so as to insert at the beginning of the and line, the words, "if not inconsistent with public interest;" and then add at the close, a nce calling for all the communications that of taken place between the British and Amerian negotiators, in regard to the proposed "Afria Alliance."

Mr Archer did not object to the first part of it far as the word also .- but Mr Benton had no m of mopping there and went on to make a ch of an hours length, and I went off After faished, the resolution was laid on the table, the Apportionment bill was taken up and pased without a dissenting voice. A message was rived from the President in regard to a call for rmation in the follwing resolution passed yester-

RUTLAND HERALD. From the Portsmouth Journal.

" Encourage Your Own," Passing recently a shop which a young mechanic of good trade had been occupying, we found it closed. The sign was down, and all was silent as the tomb. The cause was naturally ask-

Was he temperate? Yes. Were his prices reasonable? The same as others asked. Was be desirous to locate at home? He was. Then why has he closed shop? Because patronage was not extended to him. He waited for months but received scarcely work enough to keep body and soul together-while some of our citizens were at the same time procuring their work from other towns-no better executed than he was able to furnish at a lower price.

"ENCOURAGE YOUR OWN," said we. our train of thought was disturbed by an invitation to step into a cabinet-maker's warehouse. Here was as fine a supply of furniture as decorated Fan euil Hall at the great Fair. Sofas, bureaus-chairs, and a hundred et ceteras. Where de you find purchasers for all these? said we to the industrious manufacturer.

Oh, they go to the New York or Boston mar-

To the Boston market, we exclaimed, why, neighbor -- has just purchased some articles of forniture from Boston, at a great bargain he thinks-a sofa much like this for forty dollars, some splendid chairs, too-I did not know there were any like them in town, until I now see you have some here so much like them that I suppose you have taken the pattern.

That sofa, and those chairs too, were of my own manufacture-and he has paid for them in addition to the price I asked here, two frieights and a commission-besides a small bill for repairs of injuries caused by moving.

Is it possible? said we, then full sure our motto to "Encourage your Own," is not only patriotic but economical.

- had all his coats made in the city -no tailor of his own town can ever make a fit -they are only convenient to call upon when a button gets off, or the elbows need a stitch. He handed in an old coat to repair to one of the established tailors, with a high commendation on the workmanship, and a wonder that none of the town tailors could do as well.

Who made this cost, sir? inquired the tailor as he cast his eyes over the work.

A Mr. _____, of the city. Oh yes, he is a very good workman—he served his time with me, and has just established himself in the city. I see, however, that he has not paid quite the attention to the stitching of the colar I used to require of him-and I presume a pressure of work has compelled him to make little longer stitches than I used to let pass. However, he will no doubt improve.

"ENCOURAGE YOUR OWN," thought we, if you manifested in the patron's face.

There is no smoke from the brass founder's furnace-his door is open to be sure, and he is standing in it, but his lathe is still. Well neighhor how is business? Dull-had no orders from Boston for three months. Don't you find enough from Boston. Have they any better facilities for doing work in the city, than in town? Nonewe have every facility they possesses in Boston for manufacturing, and cheaper rents; but still the work goes there and we are idle.

If this policy drives the honest and industrious mechanic to the alms-house, how much better, it tenden, Linn, and Bayard, was referred to the will then appear, to "ENCOURAGE YOUR OWN."

What a fine toned piano! Only listen. It is better than Gilbert's-it must be imported. Who made it? It was made at our own factory; and while there are more than a hunred pianos in use in town, there is scarcely enough encouragement given to the industrious and ingenius manufacturers, to ensure them a living.

What a fine and useful tune might be made of the words "ENCOURAGE YOUR OWN.

Ah, here is a printing office-we will just step Good morning, gentlemen, you are quite busy I see. Do you have good encouragement in your line of business? No, we can hardly say that we do, our subscription list is very respecta ble, but printer's must rely principally upon job work and advertising for their profits. I see you have a college and schools in town: I suppose they patronize you do they not? No sir,-the greater share of their work is done in the city. Why is that are your prices higher, or cannot you execute the work as well? We can do the work well enough : but stock being much higher in the country, we must necessarily churge more for jobs-it is but a trifle, though-we ask no more for our work than they do in the city. Be sides if we had all the jobs which are sent off, we should in a short time be able to compete with esty of execution. As it is, it costs as much, taking transportation into consideration, as it would to have the work done here. The head men in these institutions, are very anxious to have them extensively puffed in our columns gratis !- but if they have any money to pay out it must be sent to some other part of the country-so we have made up our mind, as soon as we can settle up our business, to go to some other part ourselves.

Well, wherever you go, adopt for the motto of your paper "ENCOURAGE YOUR OWN,"-and I will become a permanent paying-in-advance sub-

Here is a new store opened for "ten days only" with the fag end of some stock which city pur chasers will not look at. "Great bargains at less than cost," are hung out, and our regular dealers have the mortification of seeing their counters deserted, and their customeas taken in at the new In ten days the store is distributed in sown store. spotted cloths, rotten cloths, defective cloths, &c. &c., are found, too late, to have been dearly paid

Had they been purchased of our regular dealers they would have been returned, but Mr. "Ten Days" is among the missing, and they must pocket the loss. How much better it would have been to have followed the motto, "ENCOURAGE

This may seem girlish, but we are fully convinced that it is the true policy to insure prosperity If generally edopted, no one would have cause for complaint. Even if you give a little more for an article, it is better for the general prosperity of a town that its citizens should be patronized, it gives them the means to extend the wave till every little circle in the lake of prosperity unites and sets the whole community in motion. "Excounage YOUR OWN."

Maryland is another State where there is much good land which has been abandoned by slave la bor, as worthless, but which by green crops may be cheaply and easily renovated.

We know of no better way to eradicate Slaver from these States than to emigrate there from th free States, and show them how much more free men will accomplish than slaves.
